6. Classes of reservists

The Reserve shall be divided into two classes as follows—

Class A: Members who, upon enrolment undertake in writing to carry out—

- (a) such police duties at such times as may be required by the Commissioner;
- (b) a minimum of 16 hours' routine police duties per month; and

7. Declaration of allegiance

- (1) Subject to subsection (2), every person volunteering for service in the Reserve shall, on enrolment, make the declaration of allegiance set out in the First Schedule in such manner as he may declare to be most binding on his conscience.
- (2) If any person volunteering for service is not a citizen of Swaziland he may, in the discretion of the Commissioner, in lieu of making the declaration of allegiance required by sub-section (1), make, on enrolment, the declaration of obedience set out in the Second Schedule in such manner as he may declare to be most binding on his conscience.

Provided that in time of war, a member may, at his request, and upon production of the necessary proof, be granted his discharge from the Reserve on being recalled to active duty with any of His Majesty's Forces.

9. Calling out of members

- (1) The Commissioner may, in such manner as he may determine, call out all or any member of the Reserve in an emergency, and when so called out members shall remain on duty until released from duty by the Commissioner.
- (2) If any senior officer for the time being in charge of the Force in any police district considers that any imminent danger has arisen or is likely to arise with which he cannot efficiently deal by use of the members of the Force under his control, he may call out all or any of the members of the Reserve resident in the area under his jurisdiction and in such case he shall, as soon as practicable, report to the Commissioner the action he has taken and his reasons for such action.

10. Arms and equipment

The Reserve shall be issued with such uniform, arms, ammunition and equipment as may be approved by the Commissioner.

11. Application of Police Act and regulations

The Minister may, by notice in the Gazette, apply any of the provisions of the Police Act and Regulations to such class of members and during such time as he shall in such notice specify, and such members shall thereupon be subject to such provisions and have all the powers, privileges and immunities conferred thereby.

12. Compensation for injury, sickness or death

- (1) If any member receives any permanent or temporary disablement, attributable to any wound or injury received or any sickness contracted by him in the performance of any duty carried out under this Act or during the carrying out of any training which he has been required to undertake, the Minister may award such member such compensation, gratuity or pension as may be prescribed by regulations made under this Act.
- (2) If any member is killed in the performance by him of reserve police duty or during the carrying out by him of any training which he has been required by the Commissioner to undertake, the Minister may grant to the dependants of such member such pension or allowance as may be prescribed by regulations made under this Act.
